The below news release "rocked" CNC stock yesterday:

5:05 pm ET June 3, 2019 (Dow Jones)

Humana Says It Won't Do Deal With Centene

By Allison Prang

Humana Inc. said it won't propose a deal to combine with Centene Corp., as the health insurer sought to end recent speculation that it could potentially take over the company.

Louisville, Ky.-based Humana said Monday in a filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission that its policy isn't to comment on speculation regarding mergers and acquisitions but that it was making an exception in commenting on the Centene speculation. It said it doesn't plan to make other statements about the matter.

Some investors have seen Humana as a possible acquirer of Centene, which is the biggest provider of health plans that are offered through the Affordable Care Act.

Centene reached a deal earlier this year to buy WellCare Health Plans Inc. for around $15.3 billion but the plan has been questioned by activist investors.

Third Point LLC wants Centene to explore selling itself before going forward with that deal, The Wall Street Journal has reported. Activist investors Sachem Head Capital Management and Corvex Management LP -- which also own stakes in Centene -- think Centene might not have looked at other options before agreeing to a WellCare deal, like selling itself to Humana.

Shares in Centene fell 8.3% in premarket trading, while shares in Humana rose 3.3%.

>>Market Color JD - Second size call spread in JD. Like the first: 22K Jun 26 - Sep 27 call spreads bought for $1, tied on 11 delta. The diagonal spread appears to cover half of a position opened 3/6 when, with shares $29, 44K Jun 26 calls bought for $4.63. The flow was rolling out of Mar 26 calls at the time and now the position is being rolled to Sep, up one strike. The original play, in the Mar 26 calls, was opened 11/19 (stock ref. 21.75). Taken together, the 44K Jun 26 calls traded today cover 85% of the 51.2K open interest at that line, which is the largest OI block in the name. 13F filings show that most of the biggest holders of JD calls are market makers, but a New York-based asset manager has a position in a matching 45K contracts

Christopher [12:36 PM]

Understood.. just watch it closely because sentiment is terrible, and I listened to their last ER call, and it was much less than awe inspiring. CFRA put a sell rating on it as of 5/24.
Not that CFRA has a stellar record w/ such matters (edited)

dattardi [12:36 PM]

tnx

Christopher [12:38 PM]

If they get cheap enough, who knows... remember the SPG offer which was raised to 99.50 that MAC rejected?
